Carly A. Shanahan, Ph.D. Patent Agent

Philadelphia: 215.965.1305 F: 215.965.1331 E: cshanahan@panitchlaw.com
Dr. Carly Shanahan is a patent agent who assists in the prosecution of patent applications, specializing in the fields of chemistry and biotechnology. Additionally, Dr. Shanahan assists in conducting searches and reviews to assist in due diligence, patentability, and freedom to operate analyses.

Dr. Shanahan recently graduated summa cum laude from Temple University Beasley School of Law. She was awarded the Albert L. Bricklin Memorial Award for achieving the highest cumulative grade point average in the Evening Division as well as the Robert C. Podwil Memorial Prize for excellent academic performance in the area of intellectual property.

Dr. Shanahan received her B.S. summa cum laude in chemistry from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill and her Ph.D. in chemistry, with a focus in organic chemistry and chemical biology, from Yale University. She was awarded the David L. Stern Scholarship in Chemistry for outstanding academic performance by UNC-Chapel Hill and was also the recipient of the Distinguished Chemistry Fellowship, awarded by Yale University to incoming graduate students who show exceptional promise in chemical research.

Prior to joining Panitch Schwarze Belisario & Nadel LLP, Dr. Shanahan was a graduate research assistant and teaching fellow at Yale University where she focused her research efforts on the synthesis of cyclic dinucleotide RNAs and the use of these molecules to investigate bacterial second messenger signaling. She is experienced in the areas of organic synthesis, nucleic acid chemistry, analytical chemistry, RNA and protein biochemistry, molecular biology, and microbiology. Her research has led to publications in prominent scientific journals, including the Journal of the American Chemical Society, Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, and Biochemistry, and has also been awarded at international scientific research conferences.

USPTO Closer to Recognizing Patent Agent Privilege?

A key element of our justice system, the attorney-client privilege, was put in place to ensure that every citizen can obtain sound legal advice. Confidences discussed with an attorney in order to obtain legal advice are privileged from discovery in litigation. When it comes to the protection of intellectual property rights, patent attorneys, like all other lawyers, enjoy this privilege with their clients. Read more
