Keith A. Jones Associate

Philadelphia: 215.965.1379 F: 215.965.1331 E: kjones@panitchlaw.com Keith Jones's practice focuses on patent, copyright, trademark, unfair competition, and trade secret litigation and the preparation and prosecution of patent applications.

Keith has litigated cases in courts around the country spanning many industries and technologies. He has represented: a leading global electronics manufacturer in its assertion of patents related to LCD televisions and laptop screens; a leading international manufacturer of photodetectors in its defense of a patent infringement and breach of contract claim related to silicon photodetectors; national and regional companies in assertion and defense of patent infringement cases regarding internet and computing technologies, LED light bulbs, newspaper printing presses, and tissue grafts. He has also participated in trademark, copyright, and trade secret litigation. Keith often prepares patent applications for a variety of applicants for a number of technologies across many industries.

In addition, he is involved in the promotion of the Intellectual Property community in the Philadelphia area, having served on the Board of Governors of the Philadelphia Intellectual Property Law Association since 2016.

Prior to starting his career with Panitch Schwarze Belisario & Nadel LLP, Keith was a research assistant at Rutgers University School of Law in Camden, New Jersey. Before this, he was a student volunteer with Rutgers' Domestic Violence Project providing legal information to victims of domestic violence to enable them to make informed decisions regarding their pursuit of restraining orders.

Keith is a member of the Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and New York bars and is admitted to practice before the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office. He also is admitted to practice before the U.S. District Courts in the District of New Jersey and Eastern District of Pennsylvania and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Keith received his bachelor's degree in Information Technology from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, with a concentration in communications and networking technologies. He then received his law degree from the Rutgers University School of Law at Camden, where he was a member of the Intellectual Property Law Society and president of the ice hockey team.
