Jeffrey W. Gluck, Ph.D. Partner

Philadelphia: 301.357.8390 F: 215.965.1331 E: jgluck@panitchlaw.com Jeffrey W. Gluck is a partner representing clients in a variety of areas including patent counseling and opinions, licensing and transactions, interferences, patent prosecution and reissue, and reexaminations. He also assists on trial litigation and has been a lead attorney in appellate litigation.

Jeffrey specializes in sophisticated electrical and computer-related technologies, but his practice includes other technologies, as well. His litigation-related activities include matters before both U.S. District Courts and the U.S. International Trade Commission, as well as before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Jeffrey brings a wealth of broad-based experience to his clients, having worked as an engineer and researcher (including management), as a university professor and as a patent examiner, in addition to his experience as a patent agent and patent attorney. While focusing mainly on multi-user, digital, wireless and satellite communications, he has also worked in the areas of signal processing and control systems. A large part of his research centered on spread-spectrum/CDMA systems, including applications to cellular systems. In connection with his work, he is familiar with numerous standards including IS-95, GSM, cdma2000, and 3GPP, including LTE.

Jeffrey is admitted in Maryland and Washington, D.C., but not admitted in Pennsylvania; Pennsylvania practice limited to Federal matters.

The Supremacy Of Grammatical Principles In Patent Claim Interpretation: Superguide And Simo Holdings // June 11, 2021

Patent practice is an area of the law in which tradition is commonly relied upon. For example, “comprising” has been established in patent law, and is recognized by courts, as being an open-ended transitional term (i.e., similar to “including”) in claim language, whereas its dictionary definitions include definitions that indicate that it may be closed-ended.
